Project Summary

The volunteering projects offer opportunities to young people to take part in solidarity activities contributing to the daily work of participating organisations, to the ultimate benefit of the communities within which the activities are carried out. Volunteering is a full-time unpaid activity that has a duration of up to 12 months. This type of solidarity activity is undertaken through participating organisations that offer young people the opportunity to carry out a wide variety of activities, in a structured way.

The scope of volunteering projects is broad, covering a wide range of areas, such as environmental protection, climate change mitigation or greater social inclusion.

Volunteering projects are implemented by organisations holding a Quality Label for lead. These projects are part of the lead organisation's multi-annual plans and are typically delivered in partnership with other organisations that either host the volunteers or support them in carrying out their solidarity activities.

The following activities are implemented under this volunteering project:

- Individual Volunteering 1: 1 participants
- Individual Volunteering 2: 1 participants
- Individual Volunteering 3: 1 participants
