Project Summary

Objectives

The objective of Able2Travel Project is to build a bridge between young people with disabilities willing to participate in international and European projects, and institutions developing different programs for mixed ability groups willing to facilitate participation for abovementioned experts; and serve as a vehicle to secure disburdened international participation for this target group by providing adequate information, practical advice, and list of rights for the group in question.

Activities

To create wholistic and detailed Guidebook under Able2Travel Project, following activities have been foreseen:

1. Focus group meetings in Austria, Slovenia, Turkey,
2. Guidebook development according to the outputs of these meetings,
3. Graphic design and translation,
4. Guidebook Launching event,
5. Promotion and securing wider visibility.

To these, Project Management and Transnational Partner Meetings as separate activities have been planned to secure uninterrupted development of the Project

Impact

The results of Able2Travel Project will be immediate and long-lasting. Immediate results will be online open access to the Guidebook by all interested parties by the end of Project activities, that will benefit its users instantly. In the long run, Able2Travel will pave the path for creating online platform and detailed database of programs, experts, rules and regulations, as well as rights and obligations for young people with disabilities to access these programs effortlessly.

Start Date Sep 1, 2022
End Date Jan 31, 2024
EC Contribution 60,000 EUR
Partners Heimsleikhúsið (IS)
Topics Creativity, arts and culture ; Inclusion, promoting equality and non-discrimination ; Inclusion of marginalised young people

Project Summary

Objectives

The main goal of “Young Thespians” is to play a role in fostering inclusion and diversity in the performing arts sector, focusing on youth and art educators and practitioners. The growing cultural diversity in the European populations, such as Austria and Iceland, makes it necessary to develop innovative educational methods based on evidence. This is to be achieved in the field of arts education through international cooperation with the aim of combining theory and practice.

Activities

- 1) Project management for planning, implementation, monitoring, evaluation and dissemination.
- 2) Transnational Partner Meetings for project development.
- 3) Needs assessment for needs, challenges and opportunities of performing arts education.
- 4) Toolkit with methods of performing arts education on the part of artistic educators, artist social workers working with youth.
- 5) Transnational Training: train and apply the project results.
- 6) Pilot courses: test the project results and objectives.

Impact

“Young Thespians” will create two consecutive results:

- 1) “Needs assessment on the inclusivity of performing arts education for youth”

A transnational report on needs, challenges and opportunities in the field of performing arts education with marginalised youth

- 2) “Toolkit to promote inclusion and diversity through performing arts by improving skills and empowering youth”

A practice-oriented tool for imparting knowledge and exercises for arts educative work with marginalised young people.

Start Date Dec 31, 2023
End Date Feb 28, 2025
EC Contribution 60,000 EUR
Partners EMINA Pályaorientációs Alapítvány (HU) , Associazione di Promozione sociale Giallo Sassi (IT) , AVENTURA MARAO CLUBE (PT)
Topics Environment and climate change ; Quality and innovation of youth work ; Green transport and mobility

Project Summary

Objectives

The project GREENLINES aims to empower individuals and entities involved in different project management processes to increase the environmental sustainability of their projects by providing universally applicable guidelines. The European youth work sector will be greened by illustrating the importance and urgency, as well as the practicability and benefits of developing greener activities. We can and we will use our roles as multipliers to foster sustainable thinking and acting.

Activities

We will research the needs and difficulties of project managers, explore already existing sustainable best practice examples, practical tools and facts about sustainable practices and turn them into tangible and universally applicable guidelines in legible, audible and visual formats. A training course, webinars, local workshops with fairs of good practices and an awareness-raising bike trip will inspire, connect and ensure the use of our outcomes.

Impact

We expect to produce a tangible and universally applicable Guide meeting the needs of especially project managers involved in European youth work. It will be freely available as a document, podcast & video series and lead to far-reaching improvements in the overall sustainability of the youth work sector. The implementation of the study visit, local workshops and bike trip will create stronger bonds between participating organisations and local stakeholders, initiatives, companies and suppliers.

Partners Taller d'Art, Cultura i Creació (ES)

Topics Bridging intercultural, intergenerational and social divide ; Quality and innovation of youth work ; Disabilities

Project Summary

Objectives

The objective of the 'heARTISTIC Dialogue' initiative is to produce a multimedia resource toolkit for cultural and religious educators, with the aim of tackling culture-based bullying and religious discrimination throughout Europe utilizing the creative potential of the arts. It will create innovative approaches and methods that can be adopted by various youth organizations. The project seeks to increase awareness and equip educators with novel techniques that promote diversity and inclusion.

Activities

The project will conduct a conceptualisation and method development in Vienna in February and training in Barcelona in May, where educators will share best practices. In June, there will be a pilot implementation activity with youth from Austria and Spain in Barcelona, and in July/August, a toolkit will be developed online, gathering feedback through interviews, journals, and photography. In October-November, multiplication events will be held online and in Barcelona and Vienna.

Impact

The main outcome of 'heARTISTIC Dialogue' is to create a multimedia toolkit for actors involved in interreligious and intercultural youth work and education. We expect the project to lead to the inclusion of the newly developed methods into the regular work of organization, educators and youth workers, creating safe spaces for youth to confront and deconstruct taboos using artistic methods and this way tackling the root of culture-based bullying and religious discrimination.

Topics Environment and climate change ; Green skills ; Inclusion of marginalised young people

Project Summary

Objectives

The project aims to engage youngsters with socially disadvantaged backgrounds to fight against climate change. In a natural environment both their ecological know-how (with 5R) and their personal and social skills that help them integrate into society (with experiential education) will be improved. Additionally they will learn about cultural differences and tolerance through experiencing a transnational environment and be encouraged to apply ecological behaviour in their everyday lives.

Activities

Besides PM & Dissemination, 5R4Future aims to implement the following activities: by developing purposeful modules for the 5R Camp, drafting a baseline for attitude observations and conducting preparatory workshops for trainers, the foundation for a 5R Camp for 12 adolescents is set. A 10-day camp for socially disadvantaged youth focusing on environmental issues will be the centre part. 5R4Future will be concluded through a ReUnion weekend and a Multiplication Day.

Impact

We assume that the project will encourage socially disadvantaged young people from Austria and Hungary to become more involved with the topics of environmental protection, waste separation and climate change through close encounters with nature during the 5R Camp. At the same time trainers and youth workers are encouraged to adopt the 5R methodology and use EE methods in order to strengthen marginalised young people and promote their inclusion into society.

Partners Europæisk Ungdom Danmark (DK)
Topics Awareness about the European Union ; European identity, citizenship and values ; Quality and innovation of youth work

Project Summary

Objectives

JEF Styria and Europæisk Ungdom are pro-European and independent youth organizations. Our big goal in the project is the joint development and implementation of a transnational "Europe training program". In the first phase a transnational project team develops the contents. In the second phase the "European training program" will be implemented with four modules. After completion, we want to continue to use the concepts, methods and know-how developed in the project within our regular work.

Activities

The project starts with the kick-off meeting of the transnational project team. This is followed by an Innovation Lab, where the content of the "European training program" are developed. At the Implementation Meeting four modules are planned. One module will take place in Austria and one in Denmark. One module will be held simultaneously in the partner countries. A trip to Brussels is the fourth module. The final gathering is an evaluation meeting, where the project team look back and forward.

Impact

With this project, we are expanding our capacities in transnational project management, in our work with young people, and in the training and further education of our members. More than 30 young people are acquiring knowledge, skills and competencies. We promote active citizenship and initiative among the young people involved, thus strengthening civil society. The concepts, methods and know-how developed in the project contribute to increasing the quality of our youth work.

Project Summary

Objectives

The objective is to create a handbook as pedagogical guide for a novel environmental education programme to be used by trainers and youthworkers. Methodological tools will be developed by involving youths into actions in the field of water protection and biodiversity in forest and river landscapes. The pedagogical aim is to rise awareness, motivate and foster sustainable behavior. To ensure quality, accessibility and youth-orientation the methods will be standardised, tested and evaluated.

Activities

During a 2-year period 3 transnational meetings will be implemented: The 1st meeting in Portugal covers the field of biodiversity, the 2nd meeting in Italy water protection, each has 2 phases: Content development and testing the new methods by young people. The 3rd meeting in Austria is dedicated to dissemination and evaluation. The development of the handbook and pedagogical guide as ongoing activity starts after the 1st meeting and ends after the final test run in the last meeting.

Impact

- Enhanced skills of youth workers/trainers by providing innovative, nature-based and experimental training tools in the context of environmental education. Know-how to implement actions in environmental/nature protection. Better understanding of ecological interrelationships.
- Increased awareness, knowledge and ecological involvement: Youth will be empowered to act and supported in their sustainable change of behavior.

Project Summary

Objectives

The primary objective of the SCIBORG project is to enhance the civic science literacy of young people and youth workers through the development and implementation of an innovative board game. SCIBORG encompasses co-creation, accessibility, engagement, and inclusivity to empower young people with the skills and knowledge needed to better understand the complex field of science and contribute effectively to civic discussions on current topics like climate change.

Activities

This proposal includes:

1 kick-off meeting in Arad, Romania

1 game live-testing meeting in Karditsa, Greece

Research to identify aspects of science literacy to be address in the board game

An educational board game as a tool to enhance critical thinking skills, empower youth for civic discussions and allow them to engage in fun learning to increase civic science literacy.

3 multiplier events to disseminate information about the project (minimum 30 people per event, 1 per country)

Impact

The project outcomes include:

An innovative educational board game that makes science engaging and accessible for young people that is available in several languages and formats (online and via print&play).

An enhanced understanding of scientific literacy among the participants of the live-tests (12 youth and youth educators) and multiplier events (at least 30 people per country)

Widespread knowledge of the board game in each country through each partner's networks.

Partners Bayerischer Jugendring, KdöR (DE)
Topics Promotion of alternative forms of participation ; Quality and innovation of youth work

Project Summary

Objectives

The overall aim of the project is to support youth work, specifically youth councils and their member organisations in Europe in the post-pandemic recovery process. The project further aims to support youth councils to strengthen their lobbying efforts for the interests of young people on the one hand and youth organisations on the other hand. In consequence of these two aims, the project contributes to strengthening the recognition, quality and innovation of youth work.

Activities

There will be 5 activities in the project: Project management (Activity 1), 2 Study Visits including a publication of a “Recovery Strategies Guide”, a research and analysis of representative and participation structures of youth councils (Activity 4) and two final events for the national (Austria) and regional (Bavaria) context.

Impact

There are two tangible results of the project. Firstly, there will be a “Recovery Strategies Guide” containing strategies, insights and ideas that support youth organisations and youth work providers in their post-pandemic recovery process. Secondly, we will publish an “Analysis of representative and participation structures of youth councils” where different models of representative structures of youth councils will be introduced and reflected in terms of advantages and challenges.

Topics Roma and/or other minorities ; International relations and development cooperation ; Quality and innovation of youth work

Project Summary

Objectives

The project aims to establish a transnational network of youth and social workers working with the Roma community. With significant involvement of Roma youth, the project aims to promote capacity building, cooperation and exchange of different perspectives, experiences and approaches, and to formulate targeted solutions. This will enhance the capacity of Roma youth as well as youth and social workers to improve the situation.

Activities

The project will consist of three main activities:

At the regional/local level, partner organizations will conduct a survey among Roma youth to get an overview of their wishes and concerns.

On a transnational level, youth and social workers will share the results of the survey and best practice solutions at a workshop.

Afterwards, the partner organizations will publish the collected results and concrete recommendations in a manual.

Impact

Participating organizations will strengthen their capacity and become more sensitive to the needs of Roma youth. Social and youth workers will benefit from the approaches and perspectives of their colleagues and develop new methods and tools, resulting in a manual with "best practices" and concrete recommendations for policy makers and stakeholders. In addition, a network of cooperation will be established - also with regard to future projects.

The project aims to analyze the status quo and good practice examples from the practice of youth work education providers with regard to digital educational offerings and the use of digital tools in Austria and Greece. The results of this analysis will be used to create a manual and a prototype workshop for education providers and trainers in the youth sector, which will consolidate long-term knowledge about digital offerings and motivate the use of digital methods for training and further educa

Activities

Core activities are: There will be a survey of at least five youth work education providers per country in order to collect best practice examples for further results. There will also be a workshop in each country for education providers on the topic of digital tools in training and further education and a train-the trainer workshop will emerge from it. For better implementation in the field, there will be activities to disseminate results in the youth sector and related areas.

Impact

Main result of the project are: Consolidating and preserving existing knowledge and skills in the area of digitalization of educational offerings for youth riders. Raising awareness about digitalization in the training and further training of youth workers at education providers and in the entire field. Project Summary

Objectives

The project has two objectives: 1. Build youth organizations' capacity for youth, peace, and security engagement. 2. Inform and enhance youth, peace, and security policy at national and European levels, emphasizing youth participation. These objectives promote civic engagement, participation, and informed policy development.

Activities

The project involves a study visit to Finland to learn from their practices. It includes three workshops in Austria to build on these insights. Materials on youth peace and security will be created and shared in an empowerment campaign. Three online seminars will engage Finnish and Austrian youth council representatives with EU officials for YPS advocacy. A closing event in Austria will disseminate project results to stakeholders.

Impact

This project aims to equip youth organizations with YPS expertise, empower youth, and enrich advocacy. It enhances youth's role in peace and security, influencing policy development at national and European levels. Integrating youth perspectives and expert insights fosters inclusivity and broad civic engagement. Ultimately, it envisions informed, engaged, and active young contributors to peace and security, elevating youth visibility and promoting a multidimensional understanding of these topics

Reception and integration of refugees and migrants

Project Summary

Objectives

The main aim of AVALON is to active the artistic side of migrants and refugees in order to promote their visions and masterpieces among society and to foster their cultural inclusion and participation. It aims at using art to boost their wellbeing and the self-esteem and to promote intercultural exchange among refugees and migrants themselves and among the European society. It strives for developing innovative solutions by using art as a tool for inclusion that support other organisations.

Activities

A guide for cultural inclusion which supports organisations using art as a tool for inclusion.

A mentoring project which brings together young artists with a migrant/ refugee background and established artist.

An exhibition will be organised in Vienna and Bratislava in order to make the art accessible.

An Open Art Space with encourages young migrants and refugees to be artistically active.

Storytelling Tools will tell individual stories and increase the visibility of vulnerable groups.

Impact

The guide for cultural inclusion supports organisations working with migrants and refugees and offers tools and knowledge for using art as a tool for inclusion.

The mentoring creates intercultural networks and the personal exchanges boost the artistic skills and the wellbeing of the target group. By showing the art to a larger public, self-esteem will be gained and a larger audience will be informed. The Open Art Space fosters the self-expression and the intercultural exchange.

Project Summary

Objectives

This project targets financially disadvantaged youth with limited access to outdoor activities, providing a knowledge and awareness-building process. Participants can identify their sportive interests and consider their impact on the environment. The project also raises awareness on environmental sustainability. Additionally, it aims to enhance the partner organizations capacities to plan and carry out projects, develop new skills, exchange knowledge and build long-term cooperations via Erasmus+

Activities

- 1 - meeting between organizations and representatives of youth target group
- 2 - online meetings to select participants & plan camp
- 3 - First Aid Course attended by one member of each partner
- 4 - implementation of environmentally sustainable sports camp in Austria (expression of needs of target group)
- 5 - meeting to evaluate feedback from participants and organizations
- 6 - writing a final report dissemination of the project, with local follow-up activities and measures to boost project visibility

Impact

The project gives guidance to participants to: realize their needs are being met, expressing their opinions, experiencing new outdoor activities, minimizing environmental impact. Participants are also encouraged to be more critical of their surrounding environment and think of their behavior to improve it. Associations involved will benefit by building long-lasting partnerships, exchanging expertise, developing methods to address participants' needs, using feedback to create further projects.

Partners Stiftung Unionhilfswerk Berlin (DE)
Topics Inclusion of marginalised young people ; Quality and innovation of youth work ; Bridging intercultural, intergenerational and social divide

Project Summary

Objectives

The aim of the project is to improve the preparation of volunteer mentors in their role as companions of socio-economically disadvantaged young people in the educational transition. This is done with a new workshop concept, which combines best practices from both organizations and the extensions created through feedback and reflection. The mentors are strengthened in their commitment and the young people also benefit from the improved support.

Activities

The central activity of the partnership is the evaluation of existing qualification formats for volunteer mentors and, based on this, the merging of best practices and complementary approaches to a new workshop concept. This will be piloted in both organizations with 8-12 mentors each, reflected, feedback obtained and, after any adjustments, implemented and shared with other actors.

Impact

Socio-economically disadvantaged young people are given more support in the transition to a (vocational) follow-up perspective, which contributes to more social participation and inclusion. In addition, the support of mentors and the strengthening of voluntary mentoring promote intercultural and intergenerational exchange. The dissemination of the concept can also lead to exchange and an impetus for European quality standards in the field of mentoring.

Project Summary

Objectives

The Eco-label project aims to educate and motivate young consumers to choose environmentally friendly products by providing reliable information on the sustainability of products through eco-labels. The lack of knowledge and understanding of eco-labels can confuse young consumers, so the project aims to raise awareness and engage them in resilient initiatives to adopt sustainable behaviour.

Activities

The ECO-LABEL project aims to educate and raise awareness among young people about eco-labels. This involves gathering and reviewing all relevant information about eco-labels, conducting surveys to understand young people's knowledge and attitudes better, and creating an educational e-booklet on the subject. The project aims to develop a virtual information hub on eco-labels, launch an awareness-raising campaign, and offer an online training course.

Impact

The project expects to produce the following results (EN, DE, IT, SI):

- Report on eco-labels
- Survey of young consumers, a report published on the website, >30 respondents per country
- Ultimate Guide to Eco-Labels: Educational E-Booklet, > 50 eco-labels
- Virtual information and knowledge hub on eco-labels
- Awareness-raising campaign: 1 × brochure, 1 × attractive poster, 1 × leaflet, 5 × video, 2 × infographics, 10 × social media posts

Project Summary

Objectives

The main objective of the project is to CREATE AWARENESS about the impact of our digital environment on our ability for ATTENTION AND CONCENTRATION in youth organizations and youth as direct target group, and provide strategies on how to FIND FOCUS again. With the project an innovative approach is going to be developed for the specific topic of the STOLEN FOCUS - which has been a widely covered book publication - promoting resilience with the young people.

Activities

The development of a blended learning course for youth workers and young people is at center of the project, together with the concrete implementation of different workshop designs. To gain sufficient proof about the suitability of the program around 400 young people are going to be reached within the course of pilot workshops.

Impact

The main RESULT/OUTPUT of the project is a I) LEARNING PACKAGE for A) YOUTH WORKERS and B) YOUNG PEOPLE. The learning package will consist of a training kit consisting of a blended learning course for both target groups, a detailed seminar plan, a seminar handbook and the presentations that the youth workers need to create an eye-opening learning environment. The OUTCOME of the project will be 350 trained young people within the course of the project.

Topics Development of disadvantaged rural and urban areas ; Tackling geographical remoteness and involving rural areas ; Democracy and inclusive democratic participation

Project Summary

Objectives

Creating EU Villages aims to bring more opportunities and European values into remote areas which used to be left behind when it comes to youth work. Rural youth will be empowered to create their own youth clubs to gather and run activities, as well as youth-led info desks to support their peers and raise overall participation. Those working with rural youngsters will receive useful tools to successfully reach their target group and their communities will benefit from increased opportunities.

Activities

We will conduct a research among rural youth, youth workers and institutions in order to explore the particular difficulties they face. The outcomes will feed a Guide with concrete guidelines for youngsters on how to create a youth club or info desk and how to manage it, as well as on how to raise their participation.

We'll run local seminars, webinars and round-tables, increasing the youngsters' know-how and connections to local stakeholders. Good practices will be shared during final seminar.

Impact

We expect to gather the voices of rural youth and those working with them, subsequently understanding their struggles and being able to create a comprehensive Guide which will empower many youngsters to create their own info desks and youth clubs and improve youth workers' approach to the needs of rural youth. The implementation of the project will boost rural youth's participation, connection to local stakeholders and NGOs as well as the visibility of the obstacles they face.

Partners Asociacion Cultural Somos Europa (ES)
Topics Environment and climate change ; Energy and resources ; Inclusion, promoting equality and non-discrimination

Project Summary

Objectives

The vision and main goal of EARTH4YOUTH is to make the earth4all initiative, the latest publication of the famous Club of Rome, accessible to the youth sector and especially to young people. The captivating aspect of earth4all is the hopeful perspective for our planet if only we take enough action. Young people in the midst of the current numerous crises such as COVID, the war in Europe and the environmental disaster need hope as they are constantly inundated with negative news.

Activities

The facilitator program that is being developed, is a blended learning offer for youth workers who wish to integrate the earth4all model in their work and their projects. Additionally learning resources are created for young people which bring across the scientific model in an understandable youth-oriented manner. All the resources developed are pilot tested: 12 youth workers and 100 young people will be the first changemakers building their skills and capabilities on the program EARTH4YOUTH.

Impact

With EARTH4YOUTH we develop a learning toolbox for youth workers and a learning opportunity for young people on the EARTH4ALL initiative. Youth workers are going to be trained to become multipliers or EARTH4YOUTH FACILITATORS and young people will be trained on the principles of social entrepreneurship to take action. A workbook will support the implementation phase of their project, as well as an eLearning offer to deepen their knowledge.
